

Hi

I support interoperability as we all should have access to whichever vrs provider service we want to use at any given time.

Why do hearing people have quick access to phone while we dont? I want to be the same as hearing people where i can pick up the phone and make calls quickly without waiting for the Video Interpreter to come online before making a call.

Thank you

Russell Stein

PS. Theres a saying, "life is too short" and i feel like "my life will be short" without the interoperability.
